COMMUNISTS' BID FOR POWER IN ITALY DIMINISHES

Vote Tallies Show Thumping Victory for Democracy

RETURNS INCOMPLETE.

Result is Also Viewed As A Victory for Marshall Plan

By Michael Chitiga
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
ROME, Apr. 20.—(INS)—The Communist bid for power in Italy lost further ground today when complete returns in senatorial balloting and initial tallies in voting for the Chamber of Deputies showed a thumping victory for democracy.

Partial tabulation of returns for the National Assembly gave the Democratic Christians and other non-Communist parties a nationwide lead.

The Christian Democrats swept all eight senatorial posts in Rome. Returns from 1,099 out of 1,437 districts in the city in the assembly balloting gave the Christian Democrats a lead of better than two to one. The tally showed 325,662 for the Christian Democrats as against 158,265 for the Communist factions.

The decision of Italians to revoke Communism was re-emphasized hourly as further ballots were counted.

The trend of voting for deputies became evident after the anti-Communist consolidated a better than two to one victory in the Senate. Expectations are that an even heavier sentiment in favor of the Christian Democrats, leading anti-Communist group, will be expressed by the Italian people when all the ballots are counted in the Assembly race.

Complete returns in balloting for Senate seats in the Friuli and Venezia Giulia regions showed the Christian Democrats to be three to one victors over the Communist-led Popular Front.

An even greater surprise was the 309 thousand Christian Democratic plurality rolled up in the Province of Lombardy. In the last general elections in 1946 Lombardy gave

Stove Explodes; House is Damaged

NESHAMINY, April 20.—When a coal and bottled gas combination stove exploded in the home of Mrs. R. Milton Maser, here, Saturday morning, damages amounting to $2,500 or $3,000 were caused with a partial destruction of the semi-bungalow.

A 14-year-old son, George, was at home when the stove in the kitchen exploded. He climbed up on the roof and attempted to quench the flames with a bucket of water.

In this attempt he fell from the roof and was slightly injured. He had to run about a quarter of a mile to the nearest neighbor's telephone to spread the alarm. Consequently considerable time was lost before the Warrington Township Fire Company arrived at the scene and subdued the flames.

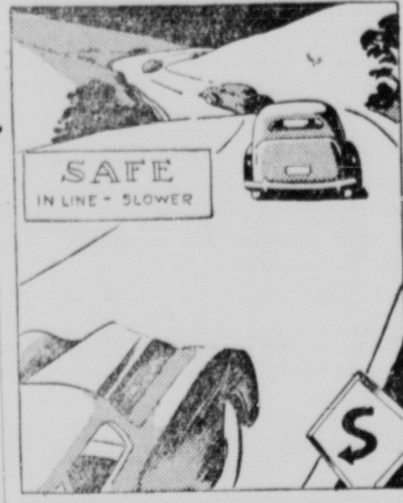

The kitchen, dining and living rooms and one-half of the roof were badly damaged.

The Masers were compelled to sleep at the home of friends.

The mother, Mrs. Maser, a widow, was employed in the Troy Laundry at the time of the disaster. The furniture and property are insured.

The son can give no details concerning the explosion other than he heard a noise and immediately there were flames everywhere in the kitchen.

MOTORISTS WARNED ABOUT SAFE SPEEDS

Three Out of Every Ten Drivers in Fatal Accidents Speeded

CAUTION NECESSARY

By Dr. Herbert J. Stack
Director, Center for Safety Education, New York University
(This is the first of a series of 10 articles on street and highway safety, written by nationally recognized accident prevention specialists and published by the Courier in the interests of greater traffic safety.)

Three out of every ten motorists involved in fatal accidents drive to their rendezvous with death in a hurry. Some of them are actually exceeding posted speed limits; but many more of them are merely driving too fast for existing conditions.

That dare-devil racer, Malcolm Campbell, could drive with comfort and relative safety over the "Utah Sands" at 200 miles an hour. But a motorist moving one-tenth as fast in a crowded residential district may not be able to avoid hitting a youngster who dashes into the street 20 feet in front of him.

Accurate figures indicate, and traffic authorities agree, that speed contributes to accidents primarily as speed "too fast for conditions," rather than as high speed or any arbitrary number of miles per hour.

Considering this, the wise motorist will not only keep within posted speed limits, he will also take into account the amount of traffic, the character of the highway, the road surface, the weather and all other conditions that affect automobile operation. The following methods of adjusting speed to conditions are a guide to safe, sound, restful driving:

1. Keep a clear stopping distance ahead. Slow down, when necessary, in approaching hilltops, curves or intersections. At night, drive so that it is possible to stop within the

LEWIS AND UNION ARE FINED $1,420,000 FOR CRIMINAL CONTEMPT; NO JAIL SENTENCE IS GIVEN

By International News Service
WASHINGTON, Apr. 20.—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today fined John L. Lewis and United Mine Workers a total of one million 420 thousand dollars for criminal contempt of court.

The Judge followed the recommendation made by the Justice Department that Lewis and the union be fined twice the penalty they were assessed for contempt in 1946 coal strike.

Despite the Court's broad hint that he would entertain a recommendation for a jail sentence for Lewis, the government chose not to ask that the union leader be jailed.

They were convicted of both civil and criminal contempt in refusing to obey a temporary restraining order to end the recent soft coal walkout on April 5. Lewis did not halt the strike until a week later.

Approximately a third of the 400,000 bituminous miners still have not returned to work and others left the pits anew after the Court's "guilty" verdict against the 68-year-old UMW chief.

Miners in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Illinois and Alabama walked out.

Eighteen months ago, when Judge Goldsborough fined Lewis and the union $3,510,000 for a similar offense, the jurist accepted the recommendations of government attorneys and did not impose a jail sentence.

ON SAFARI WITH THE GATTI-HALLCRAFTERS EXPEDITION, NGORONGORO CRATER, TANGANYIKA TERRITORY, Apr. 20.—(INS)—The chill laughter of what apparently sounded like an insane person in pain startled me from my sleep the other night.

My first reaction was to look at my watch. It was past midnight. I lay in the darkness and listened. Within seconds, the hideous, noisy laughter was repeated. It could not have been more than ten feet from where I lay in bed.

I heard Bryan Cooper, the game ranger who was escorting us, also awaken. He also was listening.

"What is it?" I whispered.

"Hyena," Cooper said, "and close."

Again the sound of the beast filled the room of our cabin, which rested on the rim of the Ngorongoro Crater where we spent the first of several nights. I timed it after that. The hyena repeated his frightening call at regular intervals of fifteen seconds for five times more, then he was silent.

I speculated on the weight of the door and the fact that only latticed glass windows separated us from this animal. Maybe the experienced know that hyena do not attack humans.

PROGRESS BEING MADE IN CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

Much Still Remains, However, To Make Project A Success

ELECT BOARD MEMBER

A preliminary report on the progress of the Borough's clean-up campaign sponsored by the Bristol Chamber of Commerce, indicated that residents have been wholeheartedly participating, and at the half-way mark in the campaign Bristol has taken on a new, brighter, and cleaner appearance.

The report, which was presented at the April meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber last evening, pointed out, however, that vacant lots, numerous unauthorized dumping lots within the borough, and untidy conditions at the rear of numerous business places, still need a tremendous amount of cleaning up to make the campaign completely successful.

Charles LaPolla, well-known realtor, was unanimously elected to the board to fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of A. H. Queen.

Louis Dries was elected to the post of first vice-president, and Clyde J. Waterman was elected to the position of second vice-president.

One new member, Harry Straus, Mill street, was unanimously voted into membership.

The new map of the borough and surrounding territory being prepared for the Chamber will be completed in the next few months, according to Edward Neibauer, chairman of the map committee.

The Bristol Youth Week program, scheduled for June 14, 15 and 16, is practically complete, according to the Rev. Edward G. Yeomans, official program will soon be distributed in the schools. The events will be under the joint sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce and the Y. M. C. A.

A representative of the official decorators for the firemen's parade to be held in Bristol in June, was introduced to the board. He outlined briefly the work his company plans to do.

He is survived by his wife, Anna. Funeral services will be conducted from the funeral parlors of Oliver H. Bair tomorrow at 2.30 p. m. Burial will be in West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

POLICE TOLD ABOUT KINDS OF BURGLARIES

FBI Agent Says Property Doesn't Have To Be Removed From Premises

EXPLAINS PENAL CODE

"It isn't necessary for a person to take any property from a place he has broken into in order for his act to constitute a burglary," informed Robert W. Holmes, FBI agent, at the 10th class of the advanced police training school held in the Municipal building yesterday.

"The Pennsylvania Penal Code says whoever at anytime who willfully and maliciously enters any building to commit a felony is guilty of burglary," quoted Holmes. "So you see you needn't remove anything from the premises to become a burglar."

Holmes categorized a few types of burglaries. Loft and warehouse burglary is usually found in prevalence in larger cities, and most of these cities carry a separate squad to deal with this type of crime.

Store burglars—the big time burglars who make a living of robbing stores usually steal stuff that is not bulky, very valuable, and easy to handle. So if they steal for instance a fur coat and sell it they have made enough money from the deal to hold off for awhile. These types of burglars are hard to arrest as they move around from area to area and you just can't go around arresting everyone on the streets."

House burglars, a very common type, may either be of the day or night variety. Daytime burglars wait until the housewife has left for the movies or market before he goes into operation. Night time operations are the more prevalent type. However, both are usually very crude attempts.

"Old time burglars usually more or less stick to one way of operating a job. Whatever the reason is for his bureau hasn't been able to decide—perhaps the men just get a rut," opined the agent.

LEWIS AND UNION ARE FINED $1,420,000 FOR CRIMINAL CONTEMPT; NO JAIL SENTENCE IS GIVEN

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Apr. 20.—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today fined John L. Lewis and United Mine Workers a total of one million 420 thousand dollars for criminal contempt of court.

The Judge followed the recommendation made by the Justice Department that Lewis and the union be fined twice the penalty they were assessed for contempt in 1946 coal strike.

Despite the Court's broad hint that he would entertain a recommendation for a jail sentence for Lewis, the government chose not to ask that the union leader be jailed.

They were convicted of both civil

and criminal contempt in refusing to obey a temporary restraining order to end the recent soft coal walkout on April 5. Lewis did not halt the strike until a week later.

PROGRESS BEING MADE IN CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

Much Still Remains, However, To Make Project A Success

ELECT BOARD MEMBER

A preliminary report on the progress of the Borough's clean-up campaign, sponsored by the Bristol Chamber of Commerce, indicated that residents have been wholeheartedly participating, and at the half-way mark in the campaign Bristol has taken on a new, brighter, and cleaner appearance.

The report, which was presented at the April meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber last evening, pointed out, however, that vacant lots, numerous unauthorized dumping lots within the borough, and untidy conditions at the rear of numerous business places, still need a tremendous amount of cleaning up to make the campaign completely successful.

Charles LaPollo, well-known realtor, was unanimously elected to the board to fill the vacancy created by the recent resignation of A. H. Queen.

Louis Dries was elected to the post of first vice-president, and Clyde J. Waterman was elected to the position of second vice-president.

One new member, Harry Straus, Mill street, was unanimously voted into membership.

The new map of the borough and surrounding territory being prepared for the Chamber will be completed in the next few months, according to Edward Neubauer, chairman of the map committee.

The Bristol Youth Group program, scheduled for June 14, 15 and 16, is practically complete, according to the Rev. Edward G. Yeomans. Official program will soon be distributed in the schools. The events will be under the joint sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce and the Y. M. C. A.

CAR RUNS OFF ROAD

At one o'clock this morning a car driven by Robert C. Bohl, Somerton, went off Durham Road, about a quarter-mile south of Pennell, onto the lawn of Clifford P. Vanzant, Mr. Bohl was not injured.

BIBLE CLASS TO MEET

The Bible Class of Bristol Methodist Church, taught by Miss Annie Heritage, will meet at eight o'clock tonight in the church.

Rex A. Hunter Dies; Inventor and Manufacturer

Rex A. Hunter, a former Bristol manufacturer, died Sunday at his home, 329 Bala avenue, Bala-Cynwyd. He was 56.

Mr. Hunter in 1938 formed the Hunter Manufacturing Co., and located a plant at Radcliffe and Monroe streets, here. Previous to that he was employed by Samuel Jackson Son Inc., here, to which organization he came from the Westinghouse Electric and Mfg. Co.

Mr. Hunter, who held a number of patents, manufactured munitions and railway specialties. He developed flare lights, fuses and other products for the munitions and railway lines. He was a consultant for several large manufacturers and the Ordnance Department of the Army.

He was a native of Pittsburgh and a veteran of the First World War. Before coming to Phila. in 1932.

In 1943 Mr. Hunter formed the R. A. Hunter Ordnance and Chemical Co. of Cornwells Heights. He was connected with the concern at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, Anna. Funeral services will be conducted from the funeral parlors of Oliver H. Blair tomorrow at 2.30 p. m. Burial will be in West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

POLICE TOLD ABOUT KINDS OF BURGLARIES

FBI Agent Says Property Doesn't Have To Be Removed From Premises

EXPLAINS PENAL CODE

"It isn't necessary for a person to take any property from a place he has broken into in order for his act to constitute a burglary," informed Robert W. Holmes, FBI agent, at the 10th class of the advanced police training school held in the Municipal building yesterday.

"The Pennsylvania Penal Code says whoever at anytime who willfully and maliciously enters any building to commit a felony is guilty of burglary," quoted Holmes. "So you see you needn't remove anything from the premises to become a burglar."

Holmes categorized a few types of burglaries. Loft and warehouse burglary is usually found in prevalence in larger cities, and most of these cities carry a separate squad to deal with this type of crime. Store burglars—the big time burglars who make a living of robbing stores usually steal stuff that is not bulky, very valuable, and easy to handle. So if they steal for instance a fur coat and sell it they have made enough money from the deal to hold off for awhile. These types of burglars are hard to arrest as they move around from area to area and you just can't go around arresting everyone on the streets."

House burglars, a very common type, may either be of the day or night variety. Daytime burglars wait until the housewife has left for the movies or market before he goes into operation. Night time operations are the more prevalent type. However, both are usually very crude attempts.

"Old time burglars usually more or less stick to one way of operating a job. Whatever the reason is for his bureau hasn't been able to decide—perhaps the men just get in a rut," opined the agent. Continued on Page Two

ANNOUNCE LIST OF CASES MARKED FOR COURT TRIAL

District Attorney Asks For Appointment of Two Constables

CIVIL COURT APR. 26TH

Numerous Cases Are To Be Heard During The Session

DOYLESTOWN, Apr. 20.—District Attorney Edward G. Blester yesterday filed two petitions asking for the appointments of deputy constables in Solebury and Plumstead townships. The trial list for the April term of Bucks county civil and equity court was also read and marked by Judge Calvin S. Boyer.

The Solebury township petition asks for the appointment of Benjamin Miller as deputy constable in the Middle District, and Watson Stoops, in the Lower District. The Plumstead petition asks for the appointment of Warren Haycock in the South District.

The following cases have been listed for trial in civil court:

Marked for Monday, April 26: Clinton Conly vs. Rockie Spadaccino and Clara Spadaccino; Paul Wesley Ahlum vs. Robert E. Kinney; Harold E. Bishop vs. Arthur Eecher and William Eecher trading as Ferndale Garage; Charles W. Davis vs. Charles Leslie Carr; Andrew Mikula, plaintiff, vs. Linford Umstead; Genevieve Turner Bradley vs. Mark Bradley; Henry E. Durst vs. John D. Janney; Inez B. Hubert vs. William N. Graham.

Marked for trial Thursday, April 29: Meta Freitag vs. Samuel Boone; Samuel J. Beattie vs. Frank J. Cutler, Jr.; Thomas E. Hinkel vs. Margaret J. Hillmantel; John J. Houston and Marjorie L. Houston vs. Arlington F. Myers and Royal E. Myers.

Miss Jennie Morici Weds Anthony Elias

St. Ann's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding ceremony Sunday afternoon at three o'clock when Miss Jennie Morici became the bride of Anthony Elias, Trenton, N. J. The Rev. Father Peter Pelf performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isidoro Morici, 238 Franklin street. She was given in marriage by her father. The soloist was Mr. Joseph Galzerano, and the organist, Miss Frances Tamburello.

The bride wore a white satin gown, the top of which was beaded, and it had a bustle back. She wore a round beaded crown and a fingertip veil. Her bouquet consisted of calla lilies.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Angel Rago, Bristol, sister of the bride, was dressed in a pink lace gown with bustle back and sweetheart neckline. She carried pink roses. The bridesmaid, Mrs. Pasquale DiLorenzo, Bristol, wore a gown of yellow lace, fashioned the same as that of the matron of honor. Her bouquet was of yellow roses.

Mr. Pasquale DiLorenzo, Bristol, was the best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The couple then left on a trip to Florida for a two weeks honeymoon. Mrs. Elias wore a brown suit with tan trim, brown and tan accessories, and a corsage of lily of the valley. When they return they will reside at 920 Adelme street, Trenton, N. J.

Mrs. Elias operated the Win-Ler Beauty Salon, Pond street.

The bride's gifts to the matron of honor and the bridesmaid were rhinestone necklace and bracelet sets. The bridegroom presented the best man with a maracas tie pin set.

TAKEN TO HOSPITALS

Bucks County Rescue Squad, yesterday, removed John Radovich, Fairview Lane, to St. Francis Hospital, Trenton, suffering with appendicitis. Baby John Bosko, Bristol Terrace No. 2, was taken to St. Christopher's Hospital, Philadelphia, with pneumonia.

State Police Say:

If you value life and limb—Listen: One out of two persons will be injured or killed in traffic.

So don't take chances. One out of two might mean you.

This new quality, also referred to as binaural or single-side-band transmission, operates on a principle somewhat analogous to that of the stereoscope. Just as a person's two eyes never see exactly the same view at the same time, producing a three dimensional effect lost to one-eyed persons, so his two ears hear the same sound a bit differently.

The stereoscope produces this illusion of depth by providing two views of the same scene. The radio with "two-ear quality" gives two sound versions of the program.

Several advantages are claimed for the method. It is said to defeat interference, even in short-wave broadcasts from overseas; to lessen interference from nearby stations, permitting sharper tuning; to make lightweight, low-cost receivers practical.

Described as a "revolution" in broadcasting technique, the system can be installed without drastic changes either in present receivers or transmitters. It is expected to result in vastly improved radio communications the world over, presumably not so easy to "jam" as existing equipment.

clearly illuminated distance ahead. Cut down speed when the road is slippery.

2. Never slow down suddenly, except in emergency.

3. Use the speeds of other motorists as a guide on busy highways. Keep up with traffic, but don't drive much faster or slower than the average speed.

4. Passenger comfort is a guide to reasonable, maximum speed under normal conditions. Never drive so fast that passengers feel uncomfortable.

5. Look well ahead continually while driving, and keep a close watch for hidden hazards.

6. Approach intersections and other hazardous points at a speed which will permit full control of the car.

Conscious of the part they must play in reducing accidents caused by speed, Federal, county, state and municipal authorities are carrying out studies to determine postwar maximum safe speeds for congested highways and less heavily travelled rural roads.

Engineers are continually designing new highways which allow for uniform traffic speed. This will do away with the need for much special speed zoning, as will also the elimination and reconstruction of many especially hazardous intersections, curves and underpasses.

A public education program is under way, emphasizing the disastrous results of excessive speed, the meaning of speed signs and the best means of adjusting driving to varying conditions.

All of these programs are of value. But they will be of little avail—many more motorists and pedestrians will die in 1948 and in the years to come—unless every driver remembers that his mind, not his foot, must motivate the gas pedal.

Correspondent Hears Laugh of Hyena

Cooper told me that Hyena are old animals in their method of eating. They do not, like other animals, make certain their prey is dead before they eat it. He said the hyena often will bring down a young animal and then eat part of the still live animal and then leave it to die.

The lion always kills his prey usually by breaking the neck when he leaps on him. The hyena is not strong enough to get a full grown animal. But by hunting in packs, he is able to pull down a "youngster."

Since it is the job of the game department in Tanganyika to preserve the animals in this section of the continent, the hyena is a natural enemy which must not be exterminated but kept within bounds.

Three of us from the Gatti-Hallcrafters Expedition, the two photographers, Weldon King, of Springfield, Mo., and Errol Prince, of Milwaukee, and myself had left the third camp of the expedition near the modern city of Arusha.

We were accompanied by Cooper who was sent by Commander Attilio Gatti, leader of the expedition, on a quick foray of the Ngorongoro Crater and—if possible—to the Serengeti Plain for camera studies of Africa's wild life.

The Ngorongoro Crater is one of the great areas where the game of Africa cluster amid scenery probably unrivalled in the world. It is a 100-mile square area entirely closed in by steep cliffs.

On the rim of the crater you might be still in the mists of prehistoric Africa.

The crater now is a great national park and as in the United States there are trim rest houses on its 7,500 foot rim for the curious tourist. The narrow rim only a few yards wide in spots, shields from a modern world an unbelievable setting that Hollywood could spend millions to recreate and then only partially succeed.

When looking for clues always start at the point the burglar started and work your way in to the scene of the crime. Don't overlook anything that may even remotely be a clue. Check the refrigerators as many checkers who have time all-ways raid the ice box. Beer bottles and other bottles are excellent culture for fingerprints. One thing you should always do, and that is if you find prints, be sure you take pictures of them at the scene of the crime and on the object on which they are found.

"Tool marks are important," continued Holmes. "Every tool makes its own characteristic mark. It has been shown in the laboratory that this is a fact. Footprints are also important. Be sure to make a cast of all around."

The class was concluded with movie slides of safe cracking and the methods used for this type of burglary.

Next week the theme will be "Arrest Problems."

Police Told About Kinds of Burglaries

"This makes it very easy to trace suspects when a burglary has been committed by the method used. It doesn't always work out, but most of the times you don't go wrong."

Holmes told the officers present at the class to be sure that when they investigate a burglary that it is an authentic one. A bank burglary may mean an embezzling job, and a jewelry burglary may mean that someone is trying to chisel an insurance company, so be sure when you investigate the case to be on the look-out for these angles.

The stereoscope produces this illusion of depth by providing two views of the same scene. The radio with "two-ear quality" gives two sound versions of the program.

Several advantages are claimed for the method. It is said to defeat interference, even in short-wave broadcasts from overseas; to lessen interference from nearby stations, permitting sharper tuning; to make lightweight, low-cost receivers practical.

Described as a "revolution" in broadcasting technique, the system can be installed without drastic changes either in present receivers or transmitters. It is expected to result in vastly improved radio communications the world over, presumably not so easy to "jam" as existing equipment.

Motorists Warned About Safe Speeds

clearly illuminated distance ahead.
Cut down speed when the road is slippery.

2. Never slow down suddenly, except in emergency.

3. Use the speeds of other motorists as a guide on busy highways.
Keep up with traffic, but don't drive much faster or slower than the average speed.

4. Passenger comfort is a guide to reasonable, maximum speed under normal conditions. Never drive so fast that passengers feel uncomfortable.

5. Look well ahead continually while driving, and keep a close watch for hidden hazards.

6. Approach intersections and other hazardous points at a speed which will permit full control of the car.

Conscious of the part they must play in reducing accidents caused by speed, Federal, county, state and municipal authorities are carrying out studies to determine postwar maximum safe speeds for congested highways and less heavily traveled rural roads.

Engineers are continually designing new highways which allow for uniform traffic speed. This will do away with the need for much special speed zoning, as will also the elimination and reconstruction of many especially hazardous intersections, curves and underpasses.

A public education program is under way, emphasizing the disastrous results of excessive speed, the meaning of speed signs and the best means of adjusting driving to varying conditions.

All of these programs are of value. But they will be of little avail—many more motorists and pedestrians will die in 1948 and in the years to come—unless every driver remembers that his mind, not his foot, must motivate the gas pedal.

Correspondent Hears Laugh of Hyena

Cooper told me that Hyena are odd animals in their method of eating. They do not, like other animals, make certain their prey is dead before they eat it. He said the hyena often will bring down a young animal and then eat part of the still live animal and then leave it to die.

The lion always kills his prey usually by breaking the neck when he leaps on him. The hyena is not strong enough to get a full grown animal. But by hunting in packs, he is able to pull down a "youngster."

Since it is the job of the game department in Tanganyika to preserve the animals in this section of the continent, the hyena is a natural enemy which must not be exterminated but kept within bounds.

Three of us from the Gatti-Halli-crafters Expedition, the two photographers, Weldon King, of Springfield, Mo., and Errol Prince, of Milwaukee, and myself had left the third camp of the expedition near the modern city of Arusha.

We were accompanied by Cooper who was sent by Commander Attilio Gatti, leader of the expedition, on a quick foray of the Ngorongoro Crater and—if possible—to the Serengeti Plain for camera studies of Africa's wild life.

The Ngorongoro Crater is one of the great areas where the game of Africa cluster amid scenery probably unrivaled in the world. It is a 100-mile square area entirely closed in by steep cliffs.

On the rim of the crater you might be still in the mists of prehistoric Africa.

The crater now is a great national park and as in the United States there are trim rest houses on its 7,500 foot rim for the curious tourist. The narrow rim only a few yards wide in spots, shields from a modern world an unbelievable setting that Hollywood could spend millions to recreate and then only partially succeed.

Police Told About Kinds of Burglaries

"This makes it very easy to trace suspects when a burglary has been committed by the method used. It doesn't always work out, but most of the times you don't go wrong."

Holmes told the officers present at the class to be sure that when they investigate a burglary that it is an authentic one. A bank burglary may mean an embezzling job, and a jewelry burglary may mean that someone is trying to chisel an insurance company, so be sure when you investigate the case to be on the look-out for these angles.

"When looking for clues always start at the point the burglar started and work your way in to the scene of the crime. Don't overlook anything that may even remotely be a clue. Check the refrigerators as many burglars who have time always raid the ice box. Beer bottles and other bottles are excellent culture for fingerprints. One thing you should always do, and that is if you find prints, be sure you take pictures of them at the scene of the crime and on the object on which they are found."

"Tool marks are important," continued Holmes. "Every tool makes its own characteristic mark. It has

OPEN HOUSE DAY IS PLANNED FOR SATURDAY, MAY 15TH, AT NEW HOPE

Open house day in New Hope, Pa., for the benefit of the local Public Health Nursing Association, is scheduled for Saturday, May 15, from eleven to five-thirty.

Five of the ten houses which will be open to visitors have never been in the list before and include the home of Mrs. Alden C. Bentley, with its Revolutionary and Civil-War history; studio and home of the illustrator, Charles Hargens, one of the oldest inhabited dwellings in Bucks County; home of Mr. and Mrs. John Price Jones, famous for its original 15th century drawing-room; pro-Revolutionary farmhouse of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hargens; and the Solebury Friends Meeting House. The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Snyder will be a striking setting for an exhibition of Harry Rosin's sculpture; and the F. B. Williams' house, the Donald Crawfords, and home and studio of Valentine d'Ogries, are old favorites. Tea will be served to visitors on the shady lawn of Solebury School.

Information can be obtained by writing to Mrs. Stephen Hoyt, New Hope, Pa.

Mrs. Arthur Corkran, Jr., Railroad avenue, was guest of honor at a shower on Thursday evening given by Mrs. Arthur Corkran, Sr., and Mrs. Lynford Woolvin, Jr. The decorations were pink and blue. Games were enjoyed and refreshments served. Those present were: Mrs. Ralph Linck, Mrs. Florence Jones, Mrs. Anna Rea, Mrs. D. W. Colard, Mrs. Edwin Furman, Mrs. Equilone, of Bristol, Mrs. Truman McElvaine and Mrs. Lynford Woolvin, Sr., Croydon, Mrs. Fox, Eddington, Mrs. Potts and Mrs. Evelyn Vimmersberger, Newportville, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Cruely, of Philadelphia. Mrs. Corkran received many gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Natale, Farragut avenue, entertained on Friday evening in honor of their daughter, Jane, who celebrated her tenth birthday anniversary. Games were enjoyed with prizes given.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The
Rev. Bickley Burns Broadhead
Pastor
Bensalem Methodist Church

Gracious Lord, who giveth the seedtime and the harvest in their season, help us to grow in spirit that the fruits of our lives may be worthy of Thy love for us. We see the bursting buds and growing plants about us; we would grow spiritually too. Touch our lives with new life and strength, that this day and in each of our tomorrows we may show stronger character and richer faith. Amen.

Refreshments were served. The dining room was gayly decorated in pink and blue. Favors were baskets filled with candy. The guests included: Barbara Jo Buck, John Richard Thorne, Marie Waters, Wilson Black, John and James Doyle, Ellanna Knoch, David Hertzler, Anne Marie Adams, Joseph Commare, Rosann Marino, Louise Stoop, Barbara Ann Adams, Dorothy Torano, Patricia Mama, Carol Elchenko and Rita Missera. Jane received many gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Black and son, Wilson, Taft street, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Williams and children, Wayne and Joanne, Bristol Heights, spent the week-end at the Williams' cottage at Browns Mills, N. J.

Miss Lois Black, Taft street, spent the week-end with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Haines, Riverside, N. J. The meeting of Lily Rebekah Lodge No. 366, held in Odd Fellows Hall, Radcliffe street, is called for 7:30 p. m. Wednesday evening. Following the regular business a public card party will be held at 8:30 p. m. on the second floor.

Circle No. 1 of the Bristol Presbyterian Women's Guild met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Melvin Cox, Taft street. Following a book review by Mrs. Cox, the members folded gauze for the Presbyterian hospital, Philadelphia. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Noel and Mrs. Robert Miller, of Hanover, Pa., spent two days last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Hopkins, Terrace I. Mrs. William Bair, Nelson Court, was called to the home of her sister, Mrs. Harry Morrison, of Coatesville, due to the death of Mrs. Bair's mother, Mrs. Catherine Watterson, 89 years old. Mrs. Morrison formerly made her home with Mrs. Bair and had been ill a long time.

Mrs. O. W. Nelson, Long Beach, California, has been spending a few days visiting Mrs. Charles Peet, West Circle.

"Lt. J. G." Elmer Fischer who is stationed at Norfolk, Virginia, has been spending a 10-day leave at the home of his mother, Mrs. Frank Fischer, Bath Addition.

On Friday evening the Senior Christian Endeavor of the Bristol Presbyterian Church held a party at the church. The group has been divided all year into two teams, the "Hustlers" and the "Go-Getters", each one receiving points for attendance, and for acquiring new members. The winning team, the "Go-Getters" was given a party by the "Hustlers" for having the largest number of points at the end of a designated time. Games were played and refreshments were served.

On Saturday afternoon a birthday party was given for Kenneth Lewis, Wilson avenue, who was six years old. Games were played with prizes being won by Linda Moore and Gordon Groff. Refreshments were served and each guest received a pink or yellow giraffe filled with candy as a favor.

Those attending were Carol and Peggy Baumann, William Michael, William Chance, Jr., Florence Cochran, Janet Wolvin, Lois Rifon, Joyce Rauch, Linda Moore, Gordon Groff, Bernice Daugherty, Edward Waters, and Donald Lewis.

Mrs. Rhoda Walter, Monroe street, was a recent visitor of Mr.

OPEN HOUSE DAY IS PLANNED FOR SATURDAY, MAY 15TH, AT NEW HOPE

Open house day in New Hope, given for the benefit of the local Public Health Nursing Association, is scheduled for Saturday, May 15, from eleven to five-thirty.

Five of the ten houses which will be open to visitors have never been on the list before and include the home of Mrs. Alden C. Bentley, with its Revolutionary-and-Civil-War history; studio and home of the illustrator, Charles Hargens, one of the oldest inhabited dwellings in Bucks County; home of Mr. and Mrs. John Price Jones, famous for its original 18th century drawing-room; pro-Revolutionary farm-house of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Prange; and the Solebury Friends' Meeting House. The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Snyder will be a striking setting for an exhibition of Harry Rosin's sculpture; and the P. B. Williams' house, the Donald Crawford's, and home and studio of Valentine d'Ogries, are old favorites. Tea will be served to visitors on the shady lawn of Solebury School.

Information can be obtained by writing to Mrs. Stephen Hoyt, New Hope, Pa.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The
Rev. Bickley Burns Broadhead
Pastor
Bensalem Methodist Church

Gracious Lord, who giveth the seedtime and the harvest in their season, help us to grow in spirit that the fruits of our lives may be worthy of Thy love for us. We see the bursting buds and growing plants about us; we would grow spiritually too. Touch our lives with new life and strength, that this day and in each of our tomorrows we may show stronger character and richer faith. Amen.

Refreshments were served. The dining room was gayly decorated in pink and blue. Favors were baskets filled with candy. The guests included: Barbara Jo Buck, John Richard Thorne, Marie Waters, Wilson Black, John and James Boyle, Ellanna Knoch, David Hertzler, Anne Marie Adams, Joseph Commare, Roseann Marino, Louise Stoop, Barbara Ann Adams, Dorothy Torano, Patricia Mama, Carol Elchenko and Rita Missera. Jane received many gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Black and son, Wilson, Taft street, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Williams and children, Wayne and Joanne, Bristol Heights, spent the week-end at the Williams' cottage at Browns Mills, N. J.

Miss Lois Black, Taft street, spent the week-end with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Haines, Riverside, N. J.

The meeting of Lily Rebekah Lodge No. 366, held in Odd Fellows Hall, Radcliffe street, is called for 7:30 p. m. Wednesday evening. Following the regular business a public card party will be held at 8:30 p. m. on the second floor.

Circle No. 1 of the Bristol Presbyterian Women's Guild met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Melvin Cox, Taft street. Following a book review by Mrs. Cox, the members folded gauze for the Presbyterian hospital, Philadelphia. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Noel and Mrs. Robert Miller, of Hanover, Pa., spent two days last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Hopkins, Terrace I.

Mrs. William Blair, Nelson Court, was called to the home of her sister, Mrs. Harry Morrison, of Coatesville, due to the death of Mrs. Blair's mother, Mrs. Catherine Watterson, 89 years old. Mrs. Morrison formerly made her home with Mrs. Blair and had been ill a long time.

Mrs. O. W. Nelson, Long Beach, California, has been spending a few days visiting Mrs. Charles Peet, West Circle.

"Lt. J. G." Elmer Fischer who is stationed at Norfolk, Virginia, has been spending a 10-day leave at the home of his mother, Mrs. Frank Fischer, Bath Addition.

On Friday evening the Senior Christian Endeavor of the Bristol Presbyterian Church held a party at the church. The group has been divided all year into two teams, the "Hustlers" and the "Go-Getters", each one receiving points for attendance, and for acquiring new members. The winning team, the "Go-Getters" was given a party by the "Hustlers" for having the largest number of points at the end of a designated time. Games were played and refreshments were served.

On Saturday afternoon a birthday party was given for Kenneth Lewis, Wilson avenue, who was six years old. Games were played with prizes being won by Linda Moore and Gordon Groff. Refreshments were served and each guest received a pink or yellow giraffe filled with candy as a favor.

Those attending were Carol and Peggy Baumann, William Michael, William Chance, Jr., Florence Cochran, Janet Wolvin, Lois Rifon, Joyce Rauch, Linda Moore, Gordon Groff, Bernice Daugherty, Edward Waters, and Donald Lewis.

Mrs. Rhoda Walter, Monroe street, was a recent visitor of Mr.

RACING SEASON TO OPEN, LANGHORNE, SUNDAY, MAY 16TH

The season's inaugural program of speed events at Langhorne Speedway — recognized as the world's fastest one-mile dirt automobile racing track — will be staged on Sunday, May 16, it has been announced by Willard and Stover Babcock, brother-operators of the oval.

The curtain-raising card will be comprised of sprint events, seven in all. Top drivers of the nation, preparing for the annual 500-mile championship grind at Indianapolis Speedway, will make their final appearance prior to that gruelling test in the events at Langhorne.

Racing on the world-famous Lincoln Highway strip will be conducted this season for the 19th year. Langhorne has been the mecca for speed fans yearly since 1925. The only exception was during the war years of 1942-45, when gas and tire rationing and other restrictions kept the track idle.

Langhorne gained the reputation of being the world's fastest one-mile dirt track through the phenomenal times established there. The oval, among many other marks, was the site for the fastest one mile ever negotiated over a mile dirt track course.

New headquarters for the speedway have been established in the mezzanine of the Adelphi Hotel, 13th and Market streets, in Philadelphia, for the sale of tickets and dissemination of all information relative to the speed events to be staged at Langhorne this season. The speedway itself is now being re-conditioned for the first speed show of the year.

TOWNSHIP NINE WINS OPENER IN JUNIOR LEAGUE

The Bristol Township nine won the opening game of the Lower Bucks County Junior High League by swamping Bristol High, 11-3, yesterday afternoon on the former's field.

Coach Joe Conturso's boys had 16 hits in the contest and were led at the plate by Harry Elsenbrey, who had five out of five. Arthur Freas, of Township, hit a home run in the third inning.

Paul Schmidt allowed the Bristol team but five scattered hits and after the first inning was hard to solve by the Bristol batsmen.

In a practice game last week, Schmidt was beaten by the Township Alumni team, 2-1.

Communists' Bid For Power in Italy Diminishes

Communists and Leftist Socialists a 400 thousand vote plurality.

In the city of Florence, which is the last election gave Communists and Leftists an 80,000 vote plurality, the Christian Democrats won out by a 20,000 margin.

Italy's man-in-the-street was elated over the victory in the battle against Communism.

Typical of the comment was that the victory "permits us to breathe freely and speak freely again."

The balloting is viewed in the Italian Peninsula also as a victory for the Marshall Aid Plan.

The Leftist press grudgingly began to admit defeat, and one independent newspaper, Il Tempo, predicted that Italy's Number One Communist, Palmiro Togliatti, will lose his leadership as a result.

Former Premier Ivanoe Bonomi expressed his conviction that the Communists will not dare attempt an insurrection because of their defeat despite previous fears that the Leftists might revolt.

Mentioned as possible next president of the Italian republic, Bonomi said that the Communist leaders know they are licked, adding:

"The situation will remain as before, with the present coalition government group carrying on."

Exact line-ups in both the Senate and the Chamber will not be known for some time due to the complicated election mechanism involving the election of any candidate who receives 65 per cent of the vote of any electoral college.

When the successful candidates receiving a 65 per cent vote are chosen, others will be selected through a modified system of proportional representation.

In Rome the anti-Communist groups received a better than two to one margin in returns from 1,282 out of the city's 1,437 senatorial districts.

The Communists lost out even in places which previously had been considered Leftist strongholds.

In Communist-infested industrial Turin the Christian Democrats in incomplete returns had polled 41,878 compared with 28,086 for the Popular Front and 14,121 for Right-Wing Socialists.

Milan, also another Leftist hotbed, gave the Christian Democrats 290,790, the Popular Front 139,928 and the Socialists 62,843.

This generally was the way the balloting was recorded, but there were instances where the Communists gained sectional advantage. At Livorno (Leghorn) the Popular Front squeezed out a victory with 37,293 votes to 18,490 for the Christian Democrats.

At Modena the tally showed 27,638 for the Communist Front as against 33,265 for the Christian Democrats.

It was felt that the voting for the Chamber of Deputies may show an even heavier sentiment in favor of the Christian Democrats. The very earliest returns indicated such a trend.

TO HOLD PRACTICE SESSION
The Hibernians' baseball team, of the Bristol Suburban League, will hold a practice session this evening at five o'clock on Leedom's field. Manager Joe Dolan requests all players to be present.
